

Personalization in DMUSD...

As we make big advances to personalize learning, we are focusing on meeting individual student's needs by paying attention to how each student learns best and matching the instructional approach, what curriculum each student needs, and what environments best suit him/her. We are looking at tailoring learning experiences to learning preferences and the specific interests of learners. And we are tuning in even more to what our students tell us about themselves and about their learning.
